Children of Promise: Let's Celebrate!

It's worth celebrating that students were able to start and continue attending school this fall in person in Côte d'Ivoire. There was concern that the virus would spread when school re-started, but the cases have remained relatively low. Sponsored children received school supplies, school uniforms, and various other items as needed, such as backpacks and textbooks.

While translating the last set of letters from children to their sponsors, we read of many children expressing their concern about the spread of Covid in the U.S. and praying for good health for their sponsors.

Children of Promise volunteers are now preparing Christmas celebrations, at which the children will receive special food and a gift for Christmas. One such celebration is set for December 19 in the northern area of Korhogo where the kids will have a Christmas party at church. Throughout the country, all-night Christmas Eve services will follow with songs, skits, dancing, and prayers celebrating the birth of our Savior, Jesus Christ!

A Load of Linens!

Thank you to Christian Women Connection and Jan Edwards for the huge blessing of items from the Linen Chest to take back to Côte d'Ivoire! Towels, kitchen items, a hamper, bedding, and more — all donated by generous ladies and all things we are grateful to have and use on the field.

Creative Connections

We've had the privilege of connecting with partners in creative ways this season. We joined a partnering congregation's photo candlelight service (see photo at right), sent a video of Moore and Rease for the virtual children's program at a church, and wrote a devotional for another congregation's special publication. We've connected through MKTV videos on social media (see our Facebook page) and Zoom calls. How can we connect with you in this unique time of pandemic? Please contact us (see contact info below), and let's connect!
